Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, and it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the S. A. Church, District, ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 20, 1882.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gentlmen:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a noise in my horse's knee, which was a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame, and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a spavin was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him, so that he is not lame, neither did the bunion he found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

RECEIVED, S. MASS, March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gentlmen:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, and I know how long the spavin had been there; I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one out and two for the smaller one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunion to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but it does for all what I has done for me, it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every degenerated part of the bone, to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, entheses, bunions, swellings, any lameness, and all enlargements of the joints, or hocks, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for best as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All DRUGGISTS have it, or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

HUMORS OF THE DAY.

THE man who is corned is very apt to get on his ear and stalk off.

A MAN eats cloves between acts so that not a breath of suspicion may be cast on his temperance character.

ALWAYS look on the bright side; a mighty ugly hired girl can ring the bell for a mighty good dinner.

IT MAY be said of the "belle of the ball" that when she bows assent to an invitation to the dance, "she stoops to concur."

BARTENDERS are the most sociable set on earth. They break the ice oftener and finer than anybody.—Bloomington Eye.

DON'T throw away your old flour-barrels. They are useful. It has been found that an ordinary flour-barrel will hold 678,900 silver dollars.

WHENLIN is the average church congregation better than the highwayman? Does it not make the poor preacher stand and deliver every Sunday?

"THE muses kiss with lips of flame," says a recent poet of the new order. Then we are thankful that we are not courting any of the muses just now. We don't wish to have our mustache, burned off.

"YOU just ought to see how I was paying attention to Miss Flapjack out at the picnic," "Did you speak to her?" "Oh no; I didn't proceed to that extreme, but I putted her poodle dog on the back when she wasn't looking."—Austin Siftings.

"DRAW, dear!" exclaimed Mrs. Brown. "I have just been over to see Clara. Poor child! She is dying of cumuli." "Why, how can that?" cried Mrs. Homespun, me, a bling as she moved away from her visitor. "Mercy! 'Tain't ketchin' it, is it?"

"GENTLEMEN of the jury," said a blundering counsel, in a suit about a lot of hogs, "there were just thirty-six in the drove. These remain in the lot—thirty-six hogs; just three times as many as in that jury box, gentlemen." That counsel didn't gain his case.

THE lecturer began: "There is a fortune lying in wait." Up jumped a bullet-headed fellow in the northeast corner to remark: "And I guess you're 'bout right, there, 'cause there's Bill Jones, the butcher. Three years ago he wasn't worth a dollar. He's got a fortune now. Got it, a year ago, by lying in wait." The bullet-headed fellow said no more, but the lecturer was ill at ease during the entire evening.—Boston Transcript.

SHE was brightly eyed and rosy cheeked; she was very pretty. She arranged two or three things so that she might have abundant room. Then she opened her book and began to read notes of her morning session. How charming to see the young folks mind develop, thought we. She took not a just three minutes, and then, oh, horrors! she unfolded a flash story paper and read slash for half an hour. Her beauty faded so rapidly that when she left the car we thought she was the plainest person we ever saw.

"GOOD morning, Fogg," said Brown, briskly. "How did you like the opera last night?" "Oh so-so," answered Fogg, moodily; "nothing striking about it, excepting the drum-sticks." "Come, come," returned Brown, "be serious. Didn't you think that bravura passage pizzicato and appoggiatura embellishments were lovely?" "Guess I didn't see it," replied Fogg as before; "there was only feathers and flowers and things on the one in front of me." "What are you talking about, man?" exclaimed Brown. "That girl's hat, of course. Wasn't you?" "Good morning," said Brown, as he turned the corner.

A Fiendish Accusation.

A shocking story comes from Staffordshire. A stonemason of Rushton, in that county, named Isaac Brooks, in January, 1880, prosecuted two farmers, S. Clowes and H. Johnson, for assaulting and mutilating him, and chiefly upon his evidence, backed by the fact of mutilation, they were found guilty, and sentenced by Mr. Justice Bowen to ten years' penal servitude. The trial lasted four hours, the court was convinced, and the sentence was not too heavy. It is now alleged, with every appearance of truth, that since the trial Brooks has wasted away. On Saturday he died, leaving a full confession that the outrage was self-inflicted, with the object of extorting a large sum of money from the accused or their friends. The unhappy victims of this miscarriage of justice had borne good characters, and their families have, in consequence of the conviction, fallen into pauperism. So strong is the feeling in Rushton that it was hard to find men who, even for money, would carry Brooks to the grave. If the facts are as reported, the men will, of course be pardoned, and we trust as fully compensated as is now possible. Brooks' crime, though uncommon here, where villains dislike suffering, is so common in India that Judges, on any report of outrage, first of all suspect self-infliction.—London Spectator.

TWENTY-six persons by the same name joined one South Carolina company at the outbreak of the war, and not one lived to return home.

IT is stated that in the salt mines of Poland and Hungary the galleries are supported by wooden pillars which are found to last many years, in consequence of being impregnated with the salt, while pillars of brick and stone crumble away in a short time by the decay of the mortar.

IT has been observed that if a suspended quartz ball be allowed to impinge in various ways upon a fixed ball of line spar, or if the ball of line spar be placed on a billiard table, and the distance observed to which it is driven by the shock, in the former case the quartz ball rebounded the farthest, and in the latter the line spar ball is driven farthest when the impulse is in the direction of the crystal line axes.

Abolition of Russian Serfdom.

THE late Czar, Alexander II., decreed the emancipation of the serfs March 3, 1861, coming into force execution on March 3, 1863. The owners of the serfs were compensated for their land on a scale of payment by which the previous labor of the serf was estimated at a yearly rental of 5 per cent., so that for every 6 rubles which the laborer earned annually he had to pay 130 rubles to his master as his capital value to become a freeholder. Of this sum the serfs had to give immediately 20 per cent., while the remaining 80 per cent. was disbursed as an advance by the government to the owners, to be repaid, at intervals extending over forty-nine years, by the freed peasants. According to an official report the whole of these arrangements were completed at the end of July, 1865, so that from this date serfdom ceased to exist in Russia.

Why Called a "Benedict?"

IN Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" there is a young lord of Padua named Benedick, who, though he does not love her, marries Beatrice, after a courtship of wit and raillery. Since then the name has often been used as a synonym for a newly married man. It is now generally written Benedict, although this is not the orthography of the bard of Avon.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., JULY 31, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

If you are opposed to mixed schools in Kentucky you will not fail to vote for the school tax.

It is estimated that the United States will send abroad this year 170,000,000 bushels of wheat.

If you wish to see preserved the common school system of the state, cast your vote next Monday for the school tax.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill was reported to the Senate Saturday. It aggregates $25,764,000, an increase over the House Bill of $1,788,000.

It is said there is good reason for asserting that the forthcoming report of the House Committee on Foreign affairs, on the Chili-Peru investigation will whitewash every United States officer connected with the business.

It has been discovered at Cincinnati that there has been a fraudulent issue of $300,000 of the stock of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railroad by the secretary, George E. Doughty, who died recently. The stock was sold to Cincinnati brokers.

DENNIS FITZGERALD, the regularly nominated Democratic candidate for jailer, is a quiet and unobtrusive citizen, whose personal character is as good as that of any man in Mason county. He is both honest and capable. There is therefore no good reason why any man professing to be a Democrat should refuse to vote for him for jailer.

ELDER JOHN MORGAN, the well-known Mormon, has been attending different conferences throughout the southwest, and will be thus engaged for some weeks longer. He says that the effect of recent National legislation is most salutary; that the agitation has made a worker out of every Mormon, and at this moment the church is gaining more converts in that section than ever before.

THE Yeoman says: The colored brothers of this city seem to be divided on the question of school tax, some of them declaring against it because the act precludes the mixing of the schools. It shows very clearly that they are not so anxious for educational facilities as they are for social equality, and yet they ought to understand that education is the only thing that can give them a ghost of a chance for that kind of equality.

UNDER the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States the colored children of the school age are entitled to receive their proportion of the school fund. The bill passed by the state and to be submitted to the popular vote next Monday, levies an additional tax of two cents on the one hundred dollars for school purposes and makes it forever impossible to have mixed schools in Kentucky. If you are opposed to having mixed schools you will appreciate the necessity of voting for the tax.

Winning horses at Brighton Beach, Saturday: Hickory Jim, Ida B. Wakefield, Malise and Smoothwater.

John Sullivan, prize fighter, was fined $20 by a Boston Court for drunkenness and using obscene language.

Several persons were injured by the fall of a bridge at Manayunk, Pa., crowded with spectators of a tub race.

Michael Davitt has arrived in Antwerp, and will soon return to Ireland.

The supreme lodge of Knights of Pythias meets in Detroit, August 21 to 24.

George Miller and Hiram W. Hartley were killed by lightning, near Loomis, Ill.

Mrs. Mary Reading and five girls, engaged as shoplifters, have been arrested at Chicago.

Winners at the Saratoga races Saturday: Tocsin, Bend Or, Checkmate and Post-guard.

Thirty-one sunstrokes and sixteen deaths in New York Saturday; five sunstrokes in Brooklyn.

At Wyandotte, Kan., Saturday, was held a reunion of the surviving members of the memorable Wyandotte Constitutional Convention of 1859.

The official figures in the Iowa election on the adoption of the Prohibition amendment to the Constitution, show a majority for adoption of 29,759.

At Buffalo a judgment was recorded for $392,000, in favor of David Coles, representing the Standard Oil Company against the Atlas Refining Company.

There is now in bond in the Lexington, Kentucky, district, 15,000,000 gallons of whisky, the largest amount at any time since the organization of the internal revenue district.

Base ball Saturday: Cincinnati 5, St. Louis 3; Providence 6, Troy 2; Boston 5, Worcester 1; Cleveland 11, Buffalo 3; Chicago 17, Detroit 1; Metropolitan 7, Philadelphia 2.

Representative Deuster's bill, providing for the better care and greater comfort of immigrants, has been sent to the President, and there is a fair prospect that he will approve it.

At Monmouth Park, Saturday, Yorkshire, Queen, Wyoming, Girofla, Priam, Sir Hugh, and Ike Bonham won the races. The investigation against Walton, the "plunger," began.

There has been a decline of thirty-three and a half to fifty per cent. in the prices of vegetables in the Cincinnati market during the past week. Meats are expected to follow suit shortly.

Miss Maggie Chestnut was drowned while bathing in the river at St. John, N. B. Mrs. John Babbitt rescued her drowning child, and, going in to save Miss Chestnut, was also drowned.

The sensational story Saturday, about the burning of Omaha, had no other possible foundation than a temporary obstruction of telegraphic communication by the burning of switchboard in the Omaha telegraph office.

Jacob Johnson, the wealthy farmer who went home, near Lexington, Kentucky, intoxicated, Wednesday night, and was clubbed nearly to death inside his own gate, has died of his injuries. As yet no clue has been found to the murderer.

Matters are rather quiet at Alexandria. A British force blew up one of Arabi's forts at Ramleh, which Arabi destroyed and abandoned several days ago. Three British war ships bombarded and destroyed the fort at Garabi, the garrison having refused to surrender.

In New York City the mortality for the week ending Saturday reached the appalling figure of twelve hundred and seventeen. A larger number of deaths has not been recorded in any single week in ten years. One third the victims were infants who succumbed to cholera infantum due to heat.

At Steubenville, Ohio, Saturday, Edward T. Harter was shot and killed by his intoxicated brother, John Harter. Edward was interfering between his brother John and their father, who was endeavoring to prevent John from attacking Dr. C. E. Johnson. The shot aimed at the father, struck Edward and caused his death. The grief of the father and mother is intense, and it will be doubtful if they ever get over the terrible occurrence. They are a well-respected family, and have the sympathy of the entire community.

Egg festivals are the latest at country parties. Each lady brings an egg with her name written on it. They are deposited in a basket and before supper they are passed around and each gentleman takes one, and the lady whose name he draws is his partner for supper. The same is gotten up in some sections for a church festival, the gentleman paying for the supper for himself and his lady friend.

Deering Camp-Meeting.

During the Camp-Meeting at Park's Hill, which begins on Thursday the 3rd inst., and continues until the 14th inclusive, two hundred copies of the EVENING BULLETIN will be circulated each day on the grounds. The entire circulation of the paper will be one thousand daily. Advertisers will therefore find it a most valuable advertising medium, and the rates lower than any other journal in the state will offer. Those who desire to receive a full report of the camp-meeting and conference proceedings can have the EVENING BULLETIN mailed to them postage paid for one month for twenty-five cents.

THE BULLETIN will shortly contain a series of letters respecting Shannon church and cemetery. The church is historic, and the cemetery is the resting place of many pioneers of Mason county, and of many who served their day and generation well, and bequeathed a noble legacy to their posterity. We owe a debt of gratitude to those who have gone before us for by their self denial and manly labor and heroic endurance they laid the foundation for our prosperity. We trust that this enterprise will stir up other communities to a similar undertaking and thus place in permanent form facts of interest and keep green the memory of many who otherwise, to a great extent, might pass into oblivion.

Mrs. AMELIA CHILDS, a valued and esteemed citizen, died at her home in this city on Sunday afternoon about three o'clock, of paralysis. She was a kind and indulgent mother, a firm friend and a consistent christian woman whose loss from the community will be sensibly felt. The funeral will take place at four o'clock this afternoon from the residence of Mr. Newton Foster, after services by Rev. A. R. Kennedy, of the Presbyterian Church.

Mexican Hospitality.

Tequitongo, with its mansion and castles, or fortress, for refuge and defense in unsettled times, its corrales, out-buildings, and dependencies, great and small, forms in itself a village of the pastoral plan which surrounds it. * * *

The administrator took us the rounds of the out-buildings before supper, which is served very late in the Mexican household. We were shown the threshing-floor, a stone-paved amphitheater over one hundred feet in diameter, very slightly concave, sinking toward a large circular, flat stone in the center. It was surrounded by a circle of low stone buildings, tile-roofed and supported on stone pillars. * * *

At supper we sat down to a medieval board like that of Quiquero, "with vassals of serfs" around us. We were invited to consider the house and everything in it as our own. Our mozos had the freedom of the kitchen and the stables, our host gave up his place at the head of the table, and, in effect, the entire establishment was placed at our disposal, with a courtesy as graceful
as it was irresistible.

After supper we walked into the cloistered court—a lovely, secluded precinct, with formal trees planted in open spaces left in the pavement. We were very grateful for this our last moon of Mexico. We left it, when we returned to our winter evenings, and fire, and lamp-light, hanging large and low over the Gulf.

From patio we entered the sala—a long, tile-paved room, with a sofa at one end, the place of honor for the lady guest, the members of the family occupying the arm-chairs which are arranged on either side, at right angles with the sofa. It is considered a discourtesy for a guest to sit down in any of the chairs, instead of walking through the room to the sofa. As there were no ladies at Tequitongo, I was obliged to sit alone on the long sofa. The engineers, the Colonel, our host, and another unbidden guest like ourselves, who had found shelter for the night, occupied the arm-chairs.

After awhile, I ventured to ask the ad-ministrador to take the seat beside me.
It may have been an enormity on my part, but at all events our host was too well bred to exhibit any horror at the situation. The little four-year-old boy whom we had seen on his pony came shyly into the room, and stood by his father's knee. He was a charming little man, dressed in a suit of leather, with a tiny pair of spurs attached to his baby shoes; but in spite of his spurs and his horsemanship, he was not unwilling to sit in my lap and be coaxed into friendliness. The hissing Spanish vowels of this little motherless child were exquisite.
But there was other "music of the country" in store for us. At the lower end of the room a company of musicians gathered by the light of candles clustered on a table; a striking group, with violins, a violoncello, guitars, a harp—I can not recall all the instruments, but the music and the scene it would not be easy to forget. — The Century.

Macaroni.

Once upon a time a wealthy Palermi-tan noble owned a cook gifted by nature with an inventive genius. One day, in a rapture of culinary composition, this great artist devised the farinaceous tubes called "macaroni," which all love so well, and the succulent accessories of rich sauce and grated parmesan, familiar to those who have partaken of "macaroni al sugo" in Southern Italy. Having filled a mighty china bowl with this delicious compound, he set it before his lord—a gourmet of the first water—and stood by to watch the effect of his experiment. The first mouthful elicited the ejaculations "Cari!" idiomatically equivalent to "excellent" in English, from the illustrious epicure. After swallowing a second modicum he exclaimed,
"Ma Cari!" or "Excellent indeed!"
Presently, as the flavor of the tooth-some mess grew upon him, his enthusiasm grew to even higher flights, and he cried out, in a voice tremulous with joyful emotion, "Ma caroni!"—"Indeed, most supremely, most sublimely and superlatively excellent!" In paying this verbal tribute to the merits of his cook's discovery he unwittingly bestowed a name upon that admirable preparation, which has stuck to it ever since, says the London Telegraph.
